DETAILED ACTION

Double Patenting

1. The nonstatutory double patenting rejection is based on a judicially created doctrine grounded in public policy (a policy reflected in the statute) so as to prevent the unjustified or improper timewise extension of the "right to exclude" granted by a patent and to prevent possible harassment by multiple assignees. See In re Goodman, 11 F.3d 1046, 29 USPQ2d 2010 (Fed. Cir. 1993); In re Longi, 759 F.2d 887, 225 USPQ 645 (Fed. Cir. 1985); In re Van Ornum, 686 F.2d 937, 214 USPQ 761 (CCPA 1982); In re Vogel, 422 F.2d 438, 164 USPQ 619 (CCPA 1970); and, In re Thorington, 418 F.2d 528, 163 USPQ 644 (CCPA 1969).

A timely filed terminal disclaimer in compliance with 37 CFR 1.321(c) may be used to overcome an actual or provisional rejection based on a nonstatutory double patenting ground provided the conflicting application or patent is shown to be commonly owned with this application. See 37 CFR 1.130(b).

Effective January 1, 1994, a registered attorney or agent of record may sign a terminal disclaimer. A terminal disclaimer signed by the assignee must fully comply with 37 CFR 3.73(b).

2. Claims 1-18 are provisionally rejected under the judicially created doctrine of obviousness-type double patenting as being unpatentable over claims 15-26 of copending Application No. 10/808,237. Although the conflicting claims are not identical, they are not patentably distinct from each other because the method steps, while worded slightly differently, are in essence the same.

This is a provisional obviousness-type double patenting rejection because the conflicting claims have not in fact been patented.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

3. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

4. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

5. Claims 1-18 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as anticipated by or, in the alternative, under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as obvious over U.S. Patent No. 5,667,032 to Kamlukin.

The Kamlukin '032 patent discloses a low radius pivoted rear wheel steered mower.

While the Kamlukin '032 patent does not describe in detail the method for operating the mower, given its structure, the Kamlukin mower is inherently operated in the same manner as instantly claimed. Alternatively, it would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art to operate the Kamlukin mower in the manner as claimed, since the claimed method and operation would be the normal and logical manner in which to mow a lawn with the Kamlukin mower.

The Kamlukin mower operates by defining a reference axis of rotation (99) at a desired point. The wheels (Fig. 3 - 12, 14, 32, 34) are oriented generally tangentially to a circular region about the reference axis. Rotational mechanical energy is applied to the wheels (12, 13) to rotate the mower about the reference axis.

Regarding claims 2-18: The method steps claimed are inherently capable of being performed by the Kamlukin mower, and a user would inherently perform the various steps of starting and stopping the forward movement of the mower, sharply turning the mower, reorienting the mower, driving the mower in a linear path, since these are steps that commonly performed when mowing lawns that are not perfect empty rectangles.

Conclusion

6. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure.
